Designed for your club members

A private social network for your club members

Communicate, share media, look for other players to play with, all on a single board where members can feel more involved in the club life. Each associate can create and customize his own profile, manage privacy settings and access to the social network features. Furthermore, users can share their matches, results and experiences on main social networks.

Court and Activity booking

Booking a court has never been this easy! Wansport.com offers different channels and media where players can book their courts:

1. Online through their own profiles, on your club platform.
2. From the club reception, for those who have no personal online account.
3. Using a touchscreen totem at the clubhouse with which members can interact directly, check availability and book courts.
4. Through the smartphone app.

After the booking, members receive a follow-up notification to confirm their reservation.

Organize a match, view ranks and score

Apply to matches already organised by other players or create a new one. Send invitations to friends or guest players via SMS, e-mail and push notifications.

At the end of the match, players can register their score and check their own ranks.

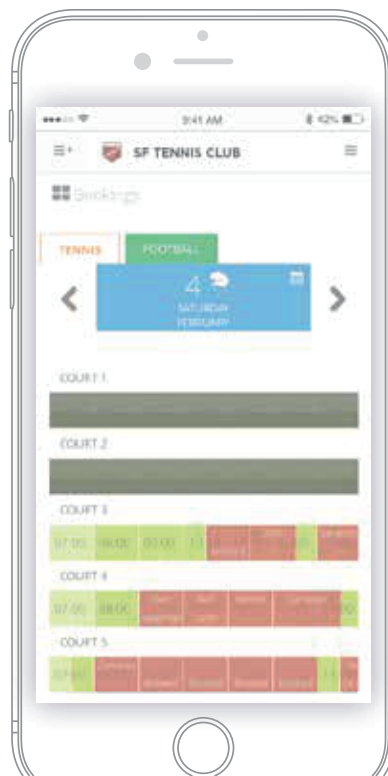

Program enrollment and Membership fees

Members can verify their membership fees online, the availability of courses, subscribe and pay via their own digital wallet or credit card.

Members are automatically notified about course information or when payments are due.

Digital wallet

A pre-paid credit account, can be used to pay services, book courts and other kinds of purchasing. It is the easiest way for club members to access all of the club services. Members can check their current account balance as well as their previous operations. The digital wallet can be recharged from club reception or online via credit card.

All this and more in a single app

The Wansport app delivers integrated bookings, members interaction, programs and lessons, communications, a digital wallet and many more features.

Easily improve the management of your sports center

Membership and Users management

Creating and managing user profiles for clients and members is quite easy and convenient. You can add as many types of users as you need. Each one can have a particular configuration that allows or denies specific system features, according to the club rules.

For example, a user labeled as tennis master could have the privilege of planning lessons and booking courts, whereas users labeled as member would not. Several other configurations could also be applied to members, such as credit limit for the digital wallet.

Club owners can also overview all the profiles and export reports in several formats (PDF, excel, etc.) as well as be able to print user statements according to due and expired fees.

Booking, Programs and Lessons

From courts to lessons, members can book every activity the club would like to show on the planning, online.

Programs and Lessons Management offers different kind of customizations: planning of day and time, list of activities, assign coaches, extra services, coupons and promotions, differentiate pricelists for different user types, define payment plans and program renewals. A register of all attendees can also be automatised using the access control module.

Administrators can use their own interface where they can manage these activities. It is possible to set up lots of configurations concerning court rules, such as recurring bookings, customized price lists, time slots (i.e. 30, 60, 90min) and booking cancellation rules.

Extra costs, such as lighting and heating, can be applied to specific activities or bookings. It is also possible to specify rules and exceptions, for instance, admins can choose days and hours when extra costs would be applied.

Communications

Instant communication with your members is available through different channels like text messages, e-mail and in-app push notifications.

The automatic communications helps you to better manage relationships with club users and members.

Alerts can be based on user type, user status and many other options.

For instance, you can use it to notify expiration of documents (such as medical certificates), outstanding payments, personalised birthday messages, holiday greetings and notifications.

The communication module can be related to any part of the platform where users are involved, such as program and lesson management, single users or lists.

E-mail blasts can be used to keep your community up-to-date about club programs and events. You can create campaigns, customize your e-mails and track the results.

Accounting

Keep track of expenses and revenues, as well as automated reports and exports, via the journal entry.
Create profiles of suppliers in order to manage payments and register invoices.
Sell products and services via an efficient virtual POS.
Define different price lists or VAT rates for each type of user.
Print receipts in different sizes via a handy, compact thermal printer.

All these functions and more are available from a totally integrated and customizable module, which helps you to handle the entire accounting process, with newfound speed and efficiency at the heart of your financial management.

Club Overview

Statistics are an important tool for running a business. Managers are required to make decisions based on data collected over time. Those data are displayed in different parts of the administration panel, and then arranged in categories for a better overview. You can check statistics about courts, players, programs and lessons, memberships and product sales.

In addition, administrators can set up profit centers for a better understanding of financial trends and decision-making about strategies concerning product, pricing and operating expenses.

For better work management and distribution, administrators can also define roles for collaborators to access specific areas of the system, setting up classes of services and access control lists.

Automations

Wansport.com can connect specific devices with your equipment to control lighting, heating, and manage access control systems. The system is designed to communicate via international standard protocols (KNX) and guarantees its functionality even in the case of no internet connection (using local servers directly installed in club facilities).
Through this feature, lighting and heating can be triggered accordingly with a court booking.

An access control system can be combined with the facilities automation feature. This allows club administrators to enable or disable access to a specific area and combine this function with RFID, badge readers, turnstiles and entrance barriers.

Last but not least, wansport.com can connect with a system of cameras to record or stream matches. Users can comfortably watch their matches from home and thus understand how to improve their technique and game.
